for any one individual for one officel significant manner—evidently with the design of disturbing the equanimity of his feelings. In this they succeeded but too well. These words, so harmless in themselves, or when applied to others addressed to Mr. Martyn, or ever uttered in his hearing, seemed to possess the power of a magic graph of the seemed agony took the power of a magic graph of the seemed agony took the power of a magic graph of the seemed to Mr. Martyn, or ever uttered in his hearing, seemed to possess the power of a magic graph of the seemed to possess the power of a magic graph of the seemed to Mr. Martyn, or ever uttered in his hearing, seemed to possess the power of a magic graph of the seemed to make the first then for your insolence,"

Tishamingo is the northeastern-most county in the state, and has an area of one thousand. The population is about four thousand. The population is about four thousand. The population is about four thousand in the seek a transit upon the seek a transit upon the seek a transit upon the play of groceries and dry goods will go new trial was awarded.

him, bent his steps, as was his woat, towards the tavern. As he reached the wards the tavern. As he and conduct of that gentleman. The moment thirteen votes reached his ear, his features were clouded with a frown of indignation—his eyes were lighted up with a most unholy fire—his hands involuntarily grasped the nearest weapon of office within his reach, and his voice, naturally clear and sonorous, was changed into deep and upgarthly was changed into the forties of the Mississippi river via. Pontotoc.

Pontoto is one of the wealthiest to the Tombigbee. Most would be halled to the Tombigbee. Most would be received from the Mississippi ri while the landlady was preparing some attention as the town of Commerce has twenty-three hundred, with a cotton You talk about a national bank, give our alarm. The age of the twenty-three hundred, with a cotton refreshment with which to recruit the exhausted frame and spirits of her guest. The conversation turned on the difficulty of pronouncing some of the names of places of Indian origin, which names of places of Indian origin, which are so frequently met with in the New England States. In the midst of the colloquy, Mr. Smith saw his political opponent, Wattie Martyn, coming down the road. He was certain that Wattie in the South and I was certain that Wattie in the same of places of Indian origin, which is town would not have been astonishing as a solution of the state. Paning, nor that early rapid growth an indiated prosperity, the rapid growth of this town would not have been astonishing as a solution of the state. Paning and it bids fair to be one of the greatest this town would not have been astonishing as a state of this town would not have been astonishing as a state of this town would not have been astonishing as a state of this town would not have been astonishing as a state of this town would not have been astonishing as a state of this town would not have been astonishing and it bids fair to be one of the greatest this town would not have been astonishing and it bids fair to be one of the greatest this town would not have been astonishing and it bids fair to be one of the greatest this town would not have been astonishing and it bids fair to be one of the greatest this town would not have been astonishing and it bids fair to be one of the greatest this town would not have been astonishing and it bids fair to be one of the greatest this town would not have been astonishing and it bids fair to be one of the greatest this town would not have been astonishing and it bids fair to be one of the greatest this town would not have greatest this town would not have been astonishing and it bids fair to be one of the greatest this town would not have greatest the metits of what you call the state of the greatest the metits of what you call the state of the greatest the metits of the greatest the metits of the cotton growing counties in the state. Paning the greatest the metits of the greatest the metits colloquy, Mr. Smith saw his political opponent, Wattie Martyn, coming down the road. He was certain that Wattie would pop into the tavern, and in the spur of the moment laid his plan accordingly.

"What you say, sir," said Mr Smith, "respecting those jawbreaking names, is perfectly correct—Lagree with you entirely, and a much gratified to make the acquaintance of a gentleman of so much taste. But, my dear sir, there are much taste. But, my dear sir, there are familiar English words and combinations, of words, which, although they the pockets of the proprietors, while the pockets of the proprietors are proprietors.

that you tunnagene, repaired art. Saming the lands of betting, but for the lands of betting, but for the curiosity of the thing, I am willing rapidity; a new vigor was astonishing rapidity; a new vigor was to the curiosity of the thing, I am willing rapidity; a new vigor was to the curiosity of the thing, I am willing rapidity; a new vigor was to the curiosity of the thing, I am willing rapidity; a new vigor was to the curiosity of the thing, I am willing rapidity; a new vigor was to the curiosity of the thing. A was dead and feet the curiosity of the thing of the curiosity of the thing of the curiosity of the thing of the curiosity of the thing. A was dead to the curiosity of the thing of the curiosity o tected in this equivocal act—and al-

at empt to overwhelm him with insult. about six hundred and eighty-four miles. Look out for dry weather.

ly died away, but was not forgotten. ed to win the wager, and raising his courses which traverse this county, and cluded commissioners had been entitled by the rattle of a manual partial.

words "thirteen votes." His weakness on this point was proverbial, and a wicked youth of the village, now a very worthy and respectable legal practitioner in the city of Boston, once made Martyn's infirmity the means of playing off a mischievous and cruel practical pike, to the great amusement of the bystanders.

Mr. Smith, the young gentleman to whom we allude, being one day at the village tavern, entered into conversation with a genteel looking stranger, while the landlady was preparing some to find the will and the will and the was all the county of the same than the will and the was all the county of the land is firstly with the county of the

do not see any difficulty in that. I could ness of soil. What then is there to predo not see any difficulty in that. I could go on repeating the words thirteen votes! thirteen votes! thirteen votes! until to morrow morning."

"It is far more difficult, my dear sir, than you immagine, replied Mr. Smith in his blandest manner. "I am not much in the habit of betting, but for the lent them by the trade of that rich counting."

Hays had been taken up in Philadelphia for kissing a young man in the street. This reminds the editor of the Boston News of a circumstance which occurred in that city in old "Tea Party" times, just before the breaking out of the revolution. The captain of a ship the insurrection, Generals Urrea and I had between Barton and I had been taken up in Philadelphia and the rederalists, in which the latter with intention to kind the discount in the kind the discount in the kind the discount in the street.

The seemed a total defeat with immense to kind the discount in the street.

The seal of the city is said, was captured in the city in the discount in the city in the kind in the street.

The propor sissippians will sustain by having their mouncing in a loud, clear voice, with due emphasis and discretion, the cabalistic words, "Thirteen votes! thirteen votes! thirteen votes! thirteen votes!"

sissippians will sustain by having their cotton shipped as Tennesse cotton. All these obstacles has Memphis to overcome before she can be upon an equality with Commerce in competition for the thirteen votes!

Therefore the captain remarks and all hands; the captain remarks are the common honesty among the leading men of Mexico. They are as unserrupted common honesty among the leading men of Mexico. They are as unserrupted common honesty among the leading men of Mexico. They are as unserrupted common honesty among the leading men of Mexico. They are as unserrupted common honesty among the leading men of Mexico. They are as unserrupted common honesty among the leading men of Mexico. They are as unserrupted common honesty among the leading men of Mexico. They are as unserrupted common honesty among the leading men of Mexico. They are as unserrupted common honesty among the leading men of Mexico. They are as unserrupted common honesty among the leading men of Mexico. They are as unserrupted common honesty among the leading men of Mexico. They are as unserrupted common honesty among the leading men of Mexico. They are as unserrupted common honesty among the leading men of Mexico. They are as unserrupted common honesty among the leading men of Mexico. They are as unserrupted common honesty among the leading men of Mexico. They are as unserrupted common honesty among the leading men of Mexico. They are as unserrupted common honesty among the leading men of Mexico. They are as unserrupted common honesty among the leading men of Mexico. They are as unserrupted common honesty among the leading men of Mexico. They are as unserrupted common honesty among the leading men of Mexico. They are as thirteen votes!"

In the mean time, Mr. Martyn, not dreaming of the insult which awaited dreaming of the insult which awaited that section of the country will be, we the country will be, we the country will be, we the country will be the country

His eye, beaming with wrath, fell up. The soil is entirely alluvion, unsurpassed on the stranger who regarded his with- in richness, and nearly all susceptible. The Supreme Court of Pennsylvania, our said so any result in the great current of the court have granted a new trial in the great out and so havery as to be an outcome of the state. A TRUE STORY.

In a town in the interior of the Granite State, not many years since a gentleman of some property, and not a little political consideration, resided, whose Mess Ann Whereier, the yearing clear of the latter declarate of Pancy Goule, dec. 187 flons, of words, which, although they may not be very difficult to pronounce, are exceeding difficult to repeat. For instance, it is almost impossible for any one not familiar with the practice, to pronounce the words thirteen votes, thirteen votes, thirteen votes, thirteen votes! repeated the stranger. "I do not see any difficulty in that. I could do not see any difficulty in that it is interesting that, notwithstanding the general pecuniary distress, atown which all strange for all these counting distributio in that government are only effected by Government to do so, and would, in their Canton, May 21 1839.

party zeal was a sufficient apology for his derefiction of moral duty—and the simple act of depositing thirteen votes, "vociferated the stranger at simple act of depositing thirteen votes," vociferated the stranger at the torus his torus addition to its rich coll must be designed and putting himself in attitude.

Thirteen votes, thirteen votes, thirteen votes, thirteen votes, the torus his torus addition to its rich coll must be designed and putting himself in attitude.

Thirteen votes, thirteen votes, the votes and the votes are votes and the votes and the votes are vote papers, in addition to its rich soil, pure from presbyteries within the excinded and while my famula procedular grant and the excinded for one candidate, at one time in the ballot-box, although palliated and excused by some of his warm political friends, was severely censured by others. This seventy-two square miles; its population, on these grounds the proceedings of the ing the field in which we have been also versation among the worthy citizens of the town for several weeks—at the end of which time, it gradually and partially died away by die ly died away, but was not forgotten. Poor Mr. Martyn was doomed to hear the words thirteen votes occasionally repeated by his political foes in the most significant manner—evidently with the door with the for your insolence,"

"Take that then for your insolence,"

"Take that then for your insolence,"

"Take that then for your insolence,"

"Tishamingo is the northeastern-most tion was intended by the New School, ten first in the political form of the politica in his hearing, seemed to possess the power of a magic cabala, so wonderful, and so instantaneous was the effect which they produced on the appearance and conduct of that gentleman. The voice, naturally clear and sonorous, was changed into deep and unearthly mutterings, resembling the sound of distant thunder, or the rumblings of the pent-up volcano. Indeed, the effect produced on Sir Percei Shafton, by the sight of the The traveller finally kicked Martyn volcano. Indeed, the effect produced on Sir Percei Shafton, by the sight of the bodkin, as related in the Monastery of Sir Walter Scott, was not more sudden and terrible than the effect produced on Wattie Martyn, by repeating the simple words "thirteen votes." His weakness on this point was proverbial, and a wick-on the remainded to act on the assumed ground that the People were door upon the unlucky illegal voter, he out of the room, and as he closed the out of the room and that the People were are a room less that the fiften search of the assumed ground that the People were are a room less that the fiften search of the room and that the People were are a room less that the fiften search of the room and the room and threshold of the door, he heard the offensive words "Thirteen votes! thirteen votes! thirteen votes! thirteen votes! pronounced—and with that frame trembling with passion, with that frame trembling with passion, by D. Soto and Ponola, south by Talburg and Ponola, south by Talb and with fury strongly imprinted on his rubicund vissage, he abruptly entered lahatchie and Coahoma counties, and while the ship got under weigh, and in eld desir occur, that rotation is of which that heretofare been agreed on Health about hy the pacific roun. fice is brought about by the pacific rem- from Washington to London; provided glad to accommodate all who pay the edy of an election. Political changes it should be agreeable to her Majesty's him with a call.

His eye, beaming with wrath, fell up- The soil is entirely alluvion, unsurpassed | The Presbyterian Church Case. | revolution, and take place as often as of political consideration, resided, whose name we shall call Martyn. He was a great stickler for party principles, inasgreat stickler for party principles, inasmuch that he was sometimes induced by party zeal to violate his moral duties. But the only roofs had and eighty-two slaves: party zeal to violate his moral duties. Of thunder. But the only reply he re-On one occasion, in particular, when a ceived was from the mouth of the stranvery important election was taking place. Ger, who with the contribution of the stranvery important election was taking place. Ger, who with the contribution of the stranvery important election was taking place. very important election was taking place, ger, who, with the most irritating pertiupon the result of which, perhaps the nacity, continued to have upon the result of which, perhaps, the very existence of his party depended than before, "thirteen voted the party depended the p upon the result of which, perhaps, the very existence of his party depended, than before, "thirteen votes! thirteen will be double each season thereafter mitted by the counsel, stating, for the beauty of the party depended, the party depended is a season thereafter mitted by the counsel, stating, for the beauty of the party depended, the party depended is party depended. will be double each season increation mitted by the country most part, merely the conclusions to rea and Mexia formed a confirm, and Management and the lands of that great country most part, merely the conclusions to rea and Mexia formed a confirm. lings, as to deposit thirteen votes for one individual at the same time in the balls.

Martyn then advanced towards the stranger, his frame absolutely stranger, his frame absolutely stranger, his frame absolutely stranger. individual at the same time in the ballot box, in defiance of the law which provides that no man, to whichever roots. vides that no man, to whichever party he man to which we have to see the man to which we have the man to which we have the man to which we have the man to whichever party he man to which we have the man to whic wides that no man, to whichever party demanded he in the most imperious man- and twenty square miles, about forty cinding resolutions," as they are called. Visu the general assembly of beyond the read of a patron of the forty party happen to belong, or however ner, "and how dare you insult me in acres of which are in cultivation, and passed by the general assembly of Box the defeat of the Forty defeat o in 1836, the first year of its incorpora- 1837, were not only constitutional, but But the defeat of the Fobralists extinguishes the last spark of first year. shall not deposit more than one ballot The stranger thought the rage of Martyn was counterfeited, and a ruse of hundred and fifty-six bales. It has the ered in the aspect of a judicial sentence, Wattie Martyn was unfortunately de-Stone is policinaries; it is for these. The belowing some tected in this equivocal act—and although no legal action was had in relation to the subject, vet there were those in the town in which he resided, who were unwilling to admit that excess of party zeal was a sufficient apology for his depolication of march during the party and putting himself in artitude.

"Thirteen votes, thirteen and other good property sengted, dends was flower or with

GEORGE W. KING. Kanton, THE S. R. P.

And Southern Medicals.